

Privacy Policy

Wednesday, August 30, 2006

The Center for New Community (CNC) is committed to protecting the privacy of our website visitors and partners. Please read this policy to understand what personal information we collect, why we collect it, and how we use the information we collect.

We track our visitors' activities to make sure we are providing the best path and access to information. In the form of "cookies" we track the number of recurring visits to our site to minimize pop-ups and the repetition of information that we have already made available to you.

Information Collection and Use

CNC collects personally identifiable information in the following ways:

- CNC collects personal information when you subscribe to our email alerts. This information includes your name, address, organization, and email address. This registration information is also used to allow you to sign in and download publications free of charge. The password you provide allows you to return to this part of the site without signing in again.
- CNC collects personal information when you make a donation or decide to become a member of the organization and complete our online donation or membership form. This information includes your name, address, telephone number, email address, and payment information.
- CNC also collects personal information when you purchase publications online. This information includes your name, address, telephone number, email address, and payment information.
- CNC also collects personal information when you provide your comments to us via our Feedback feature. This information includes your name, email address, organization, and position or title. From time to time CNC solicits opinions from visitors to its site on specific topics.
- By logging into our website features you provide personal information in the form of an email address and password.

We may on some occasions use information we collect to inform you of upcoming publications or other marketing material that would serve your interest. On occasion we sell or share this information with individuals or organizations outside of CNC for purposes consistent with CNC's mission, including marketing or promotional purposes.

Links to Other Sites

Our site contains external links to other organizations and websites, and we do not control the use of data collection on external websites. We encourage you to read their policy statements and terms of use. This privacy policy statement governs only this site.

Security

Although CNC takes all measures to prevent unauthorized access to and maintain the accuracy of your data and information, no information transferred over the Internet is 100% secure. CNC cannot guarantee the total security of information transmitted to us.

By visiting our website you understand our privacy statement and limitations. If you have any questions about this privacy statement, please contact CNC by email at newcomm@newcomm.org or by mail: CNC, Webmaster, P.O. Box 479327, Chicago, IL 60647 or by phone (312) 266-0319 or fax at (312) 266-0278.

Your use of this site is also governed by our Terms of Use Statement, so please read that as well.