

About Us

The Center for New Community is a national organization committed to building community, justice, and equality. The Center is grounded in many faith traditions, and builds community where the dignity and value of all humanity is manifest.

Established in 1995, it has grown from a vision to an organization working nationwide to cultivate civic life and advance systemic change, in partnership with local leaders, organizations, congregations, and other institutions. The need to build democratic and inclusive community has seldom been greater.

The mission of the Center for New Community is to build community, justice and equality.

Making Real the Vision.

The Center for New Community is committed to being "on the ground," working with communities, organizations, coalitions, and congregations that share a vision of a democratic future based on human rights, justice and equality.

We need you if we are to make real the vision we share for a new community, and a nation in which the dignity and value of all humanity is manifest.

We invite you to join us in that journey. With your involvement and support we can, indeed, transform the world!

We invite you to become a member of the Center for New Community today!

We believe that a broad and concerted effort by individuals, families, organizations, congregations, and communities to address contemporary social, economic and racial justice issues is both necessary and achievable.

Grounded in many faith traditions, we seek to live out new relationships that lead to ongoing acts of community building and organizing to achieve that end.

From border to border and coast to coast, in village, small town and city alike - the work of the Center for New Community is being seeded and rooted.
